

NATURE'S HOMES SCAVENGER HUNT

It's important to take care of Earth because Earth is not just for us! It is home to millions of species of plants and animals and insects. Some animals and insects find or construct their own homes in nature. Search for all these animal and insect homes in an outdoor environment, and take notes about what you find! Compare construction techniques. Do birds build their nests close together, or far apart? What materials were used? Does their home make up the animal or insect's entire habitat? What else is included in their habitat? Take your time over the next week to try to find all of these and more!
